AWARD-WINNING CQ RESEARCHER GOES GLOBAL

Washington DC, April 2007—Responding to the demand for in-depth coverage of global affairs from reliable sources, CQ Press has expanded its flagship CQ Researcher product line with the release this month of CQ Global Researcher. This new exclusively online resource is modeled after the highly acclaimed CQ Researcher.

The world isn't one-dimensional and student understanding of world news shouldn't be either. CQ Global Researcher authoritatively delivers the world as it is: multi-dimensional and nuanced. Like the CQ Researcher, CQ Global Researcher presents single-topic reports that hone in on current crises and events—this time on an international level—in a way at once digestible and substantial. Popular sections such as “Current Situation” and “Pro/Con” are joined in the CQ Global Researcher by the new “Voices from Abroad,” which presents a multitude of international viewpoints on vital current issues. Maps, charts, and other explanatory graphics abound as well.

CQ Global Researcher's powerful online tools—a hallmark of CQ Press online resources—complete the package:

- SUPERIOR NAVIGATION: Pinpoint information using multiple search paths across a wide range of subjects.
- READY RETRIEVAL: Save by user profile favorite articles for later review and use—or print or email articles with ease.
- SIMPLE CITATIONS: Create perfectly formatted citations in all major styles with a click of the exclusive CiteNow![™] button.

Reporting with Authority: New Reports, New Authors, New Perspective

Each CQ Global Researcher report is an original work written by a seasoned journalist. Featured topics include ‘Curbing Climate Change,’ ‘Nuclear Proliferation,’ and ‘Emerging India.’ CQ Press has assembled an impressive team of veteran, globe-trotting journalists that includes Colin Woodard, Roland Flamini, Samuel Loewenberg, Ken Moritsugu, Peter Behr and Lee Michael Katz. Together, they make CQ Global Researcher an unparalleled resource for accurate and insightful international reporting.

BUILDING ON EXCELLENCE: THE CQ RESEARCHER FAMILY

The CQ Global Researcher is the latest resource in the CQ Researcher product line. It is preceded by the renowned print and online CQ Researcher and its archival edition, the online CQ Researcher Plus Archive.

Every year, new customers subscribe and current customers renew their subscriptions to CQ Researcher, proving that this is the first choice of librarians and researchers seeking in-depth, original content in a highly accessible format. Published in print and online 44 times a year, each single-themed report is a unique work, investigated and written by a seasoned journalist.

The historical content of CQ Researcher Plus Archive—over 3,000 reports dating back to 1923—is available to libraries as a one-time purchase with ownership rights. Multiple subscription and ownership pricing options are available for current and recent content.
